

TUI Cruises is one of the leading cruise providers in the German-speaking region. The joint venture of TUI AG and the U.S. cruise group Royal Caribbean Group Ltd. employs around 750 people in Hamburg and Berlin and operates 12 cruise ships: Contemporary vacation travel at sea in the premium segment is offered by the 7 ships of the Mein Schiff® fleet. The traditional brand Hapag-Lloyd Cruises stands with 5 ships for luxury and expedition cruises. TUI Cruises has already one of the most modern and environmentally and climate-friendly cruise fleets in the world. In the course of sustainable growth, three more new ships are planned until 2026.

At our company headquarters in Hamburg, we are looking for a full-time

Technical Superintendent (m/f/d)

In close cooperation with our partners of RCCL in Miami you are responsible for the technical management of our cruise vessels.

Your main responsibilities:

- Plan and monitor projects
- Cooperate closely with the purchasing department for arranging spares and consumables
- Prepare and handle drydock periods and repairs
- Close cooperation with class and flag authorities
- Close cooperation with the Safety and Security department
- Preventive maintenance
- Damage handling
- Budget and control of ship operating costs

Your essential qualifications:

- You have a bachelor degree in ship technology, or preferably ships operation engineering
- You have gained practical leadership experience, e.g. as chief engineer or 2nd engineer, ideally you have also gained professional experience in the field of ship management
- Environmental protection and sustainability are key factors of your daily business
- You work in a service-oriented manner, adapt flexibly to changing circumstances and bring along ideas for optimizing ship operations
- Knowledge of national and international safety regulations
- Willingness to travel and visit the vessels assigned to you is a prerequisite
- Ability to work in a team along with good interpersonal skills and curiosity about new challenges every day shape your work style
- Fluent in English and German, both written and spoken
- Proficient use of common MS Office products

Are you excited about this job opportunity? We look forward to receiving your application! Please apply online on our website: https://careers.tuigroup.com/job/53963_de

Do you have any questions about TUI Cruises or our application process? Send us an email at hr@tuicruises.com. We will get back to you as soon as possible.